

Nurse Practitioner Healthcare Foundation

Announcing 2018 NPHF/Astellas Promoting Heart Health Across the Life Span Award Program

3rd and FINAL NOTICE

APPLICATION DEADLINE FEBRUARY 16, 2018

WINNERS ANNOUNCED MARCH 28, 2018

The Nurse Practitioner Healthcare Foundation is proud to announce the 2018 NPHF/Astellas "Promoting Heart Health Across the Life Span" Award Program. This program provides five (5) awards of $4000 each to Nurse Practitioner or DNP graduate students, faculty or practicing Nurse Practitioners with a clinical, research, or educational project on promoting heart health in adults, children, or older adults in the United States. Projects focused on diverse populations and/or health disparities will be given special consideration. Winners will receive an initial award of $3000 to be used for project development and implementation and an additional $1000 upon project completion for dissemination of outcomes through podium and/or poster presentation, journal article, etc. A Progress Report will be required by September 17, 2018 and the project must be completed by December 14, 2018.

This award is funded by a charitable donation from Astellas.

Application deadline is February 16, 2018 and the winners will be announced by March 28, 2018.

Go to <https://www.nphealthcarefoundation.org/scholarships-awards-fellowships/heart-health/> for further information and application instructions and requirements. Please feel free to forward this announcement to interested colleagues.

For more information, please visit our website at <http://www.nphealthcarefoundation.org> and direct any questions to:

Pam Jenkins, MS, NP, NPHF Program Director at pamjw@nphealthcarefoundation.org